

The Simple Past tense Active

Kavya loved ice-cream
last year.

The boys loved ice-cream
last year.

The boys loved the girls last year.

Boys

Passive
Ice-cream was loved by Kavya last year.

Ice-cream was loved by the boys last year.

The girls were loved
by the boys last year.

Past Continuous Tense

Kavya was looding ice-cream.

The boys were looding
ice-cream

The boys were looding
the girls

Ice-cream was being loved by Kavya.

Ice-cream ^{was} being loved by the boys.

The girls were being loved by
the boys.

Past Perfect Tense

Kavya had loved ice-cream.

ice-cream had been loved by Kavya.

The boys had loved ice-cream

The boys had loved the girls

Past perfect tense Continuous

Kavya had been loving ice-cream.

The boys had been loving ice-cream.

The boys had been loving the girls

Ice-cream had been loved by the boys.

The girls had been loved by the boys.

Ice-cream had been loved by Kavya.

Ice-cream had been loved by the boys.

The girls had been loved by the boys.

PTO

Simple future Tense

Kavya will love ice-cream. — Ice-cream will be loved by Kavya.
The boys will love ice-cream — Ice-cream will be loved by the boys.
The boys will love the girls — The girls will be loved by the boys.

future continuous Tense

Kavya will be loving ice-cream. — Ice-cream will be loved by Kavya.
The boys will be loving ice-cream. — Ice-cream will be loved by the boys.

The boys will be loving the girls — The girls will be loved by the boys.

future perfect tense

Kavya will have loved ice-cream. — Ice-cream will have been loved by Kavya.
The boys will have loved ice-cream. — Ice-cream will have been loved by the boys.
The boys will have loved the girls — The girls will have been loved by the boys.

future perfect continuous tense

Kavya will have been loving ice-cream.

Ice-Cream will have been loved

The boys will have been loving ice cream.

by Kavya.

Ice-Cream will have been loved

The boys will have been loving the goats

by the boys

The goats will have been loved by the boys.